Passion for Independence, Respect for Choice

Unique challenges, unique solutions

At London Care, we understand that you want the best possible support when the health of people you care about, or your own health, starts to decline. We also understand that dementia brings unique challenges.

We will discuss our home and community-based care services with you and those who support you, and tailor our support to meet your needs and choices.

We can assist with daily tasks like bathing, dressing, cleaning, cooking, paying bills and shopping. We can also support activities like visits to family and friends or day centres and social events. We provide specialist dementia care training to careworkers, so they have exactly the skills required to support dementia sufferers at whatever point they find themselves.

As dementia progresses, care needs may change. Regular reviews ensure that the support we provide can meet any new requirements, including medication management, support after illness or a hospital stay and managing challenging behaviour.

For your safety and peace of mind, our staff undergo full Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) and reference checks. As well as full induction training they receive ongoing specialist dementia training and are carefully supervised and monitored.

Our services include:

- shopping
- sleep-in services
- morning and bedtime routines
- personal care (including washing and dressing)
- companionship services
- escorting/accompanying services
- long-term palliative care
- support for people displaying challenging behaviour.

Financing your care

If your care qualifies for full or part funding by your local council or NHS trust, they can commission and pay for some or all of the service we provide. Alternatively, you can control the funding yourself through a Direct Payment.

You can also pay for our service privately and we can discuss other funding options available to make sure you are choosing the best option for your circumstances.
